

(Abu Bakr al-Siddiq): "Allah is the most merciful of the merciful! He has created the human being from dust and made him a free creature. He has made him a creature of reason and has given him a mind to think with. He has made him a creature of faith and has given him a heart to believe with. He has made him a creature of hope and has given him a soul to yearn for. He has made him a creature of love and has given him a tongue to speak with. He has made him a creature of knowledge and has given him an ear to hear with. He has made him a creature of power and has given him a hand to work with. He has made him a creature of honor and has given him a face to look upon. He has made him a creature of glory and has given him a name to be called by. He has made him a creature of nobility and has given him a lineage to be proud of. He has made him a creature of greatness and has given him a rank to be respected. He has made him a creature of majesty and has given him a throne to sit upon. He has made him a creature of sovereignty and has given him a scepter to hold. He has made him a creature of dominion and has given him a crown to wear. He has made him a creature of glory and has given him a name to be called by. He has made him a creature of nobility and has given him a lineage to be proud of. He has made him a creature of greatness and has given him a rank to be respected. He has made him a creature of majesty and has given him a throne to sit upon. He has made him a creature of sovereignty and has given him a scepter to hold. He has made him a creature of dominion and has given him a crown to wear." (Abu Bakr al-Siddiq)
